ABOUT RSI

Who We Are

Rampart Space Institute is a Colorado Springs-based education and training organization delivering practitioner-grade space threat education to space sector professionals, government personnel, K-12 educators, and corporate teams. Founded by Audra Peck — a credentialed educator and 15-year space sector executive — RSI bridges the critical gap between policy knowledge and operational readiness through structured curricula, tabletop exercises, and professional certificate programs.

Headquartered in Colorado Springs, the undisputed center of American space power and home to U.S. Space Force headquarters, U.S. Space Command, Peterson Space Force Base, and the annual Space Symposium, RSI operates at the intersection of education, security, and the space ecosystem.
